A POOR FARM

Nobody wants a poor farm, and nobody needs to keep a poor farm. It is up to the owner to have a good one. A poor one can be made rich with proper care, and that includes the keeping of more live stock. Cattle, hogs and sheep do not quit with making the farm rich. Give them a good chance and they will pay off the mortgage. A good chance, means good care and wise marketing. You give them the care, send them to us and we will do the rest. We have studied market conditions for years. It's our business. We have time for small bunches as well as car load lots. Let us hear from you.

Introduction

IN this directory we have endeavored to give the farmers of St. Clair and Monroe counties a complete and reliable directory of the farmers, breeders and merchants of the two counties, with such other information as will make the directory a valuable reference book.

The task of calling on every farmer in a county and collecting the information for such a directory is a tremendous one. We have received splendid co-operation from the farmers and business men of the counties, without which the publication of such a directory would be impossible. In a very few cases we have found farmers unwilling to give the information requested, which accounts for a few names that do not appear.

A few mistakes are bound to occur in a directory that involves so large an amount of work, but we have spared no effort nor expense to make the information complete and accurate, and believe that the mistakes are very few.

We want to speak a word of appreciation for the advertisers whose liberal support has helped materially to bear the heavy expense of publishing this directory, and ask that you favor them with your patronage whenever possible.

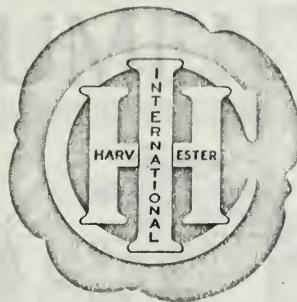

We hope and believe that the publication of this directory will be a real service to the farmers of St. Clair and Monroe counties and in line with PRAIRIE FARMER's policy of service to the farmers of Illinois. We hope that the increased circulation of PRAIRIE FARMER in St. Clair and Monroe counties, which has resulted, will help in the movement for better farming, better farm living, and more prosperity for the counties, and that our many new friends will become permanent members of the big PRAIRIE FARMER family.

Corn Planter Adjustments

By C. O. Reed, University of Illinois, in Prairie Farmer

Not all of our implement troubles are to be found in the plow or in the binder. The corn planter has troubles of its own, and it is the purpose of this article to discuss some of the corn planter principles and troubles that are often misunderstood.

Accuracy in Drop

Some corn growers say that accuracy of drop is not an important factor with them because two kernels in one hill and four in the next gives an average of three kernels per hill and that is the number desired. The fallacy of this statement is very apparent when we stop to consider that in such planting we have not the desired three kernels in either hill; and if the soil is three-kernel soil, two kernels per hill are too few while four kernels are too many. The result is probably a loss in each hill.

A certain soil may give the best yield with either two, three or four kernels per hill, but after it has been ascertained which number of kernels is best every effort should be made to secure that number in each hill where the soil conditions remain constant. The variable drop devices on planters afford ample opportunity to shift from two to three or from three to four kernels per hill as the soil conditions through the row may demand, but the advisability of permitting inaccuracy in drop from hill to hill is questionable.

The first two requisites for accuracy in drop are (a) seed of uniform size, and (b) the selection of the proper seed plate. Hand tipped and butted corn or machine sorted corn will give seed as uniform in shape and size of kernel as is practical, but unsorted seed may be relied upon to cause inaccurate dropping.

Testing out the planter to make sure that the proper plate is used is to be strongly advocated. Last year's plate may not be the best one for this year's seed, for if there is a slight difference in the average size of kernels between the two years, a corresponding change may be necessary in the size of the seed pits in the plate used. The following table taken from laboratory tests shows the danger of carelessness in selecting the seed plate. The planter was set to drop three-kernel hills, and the plates "small" and "large" were plates next size smaller and next size larger than the proper or right sized plate found.

	Right	Small sized	Large
	plate	plate	plate
Per cent of blank hill.....	9.34	.00	.00
Per cent of hills containing 1 kernel .....	29.36	.26	.28
Per cent of hills containing 2 kernels .....	37.54	8.66	5.3
Per cent of hills containing 3 kernels .....	20.48	88.12	81.28
Per cent of hills containing 4 kernels .....	2.66	2.84	11.48
Per cent of hills containing 5 kernels .....	.62	.12	1.66

These figures tend to show that a slight mistake in plate selection may lead to a direct loss in stand. There may be but a very slight difference between two pairs of plates—so slight perhaps that we can not detect the difference by eye—but a test of the two pairs will quickly show that one of those pairs means a good drop while the other pair is dangerous and its use should be avoided. Testing can be done when time at the barn permits and will not only mean a saving of time in the field but will also enable the operator to avoid a mistake before it is too late.

Each operator will have his own method of testing out the planter but he should heed these three rules: (1) Let each test consist of at least 50 or 60 hills; (2) run the planter parts at field speed; (3) do not give up until the best plate is found. Probably the quickest way to test is to run the planter in the farm yard, providing the chickens do not get the corn before we can count it. Rainy day testing on the barn floor is a little more troublesome but can be very successfully accomplished by two persons as follows: Jack the planter up over a blanket stretched tight on the floor so that the furrow openers will be about three inches above the blanket when the depth lever is thrown forward. One man can then turn the drive wheel, trip the check arm and call out the number of kernels dropped, while the second person records the count. After each hill is dropped the kernels are brushed away by foot of the man turning the drive wheel. Glancing at the drop without recording the count simplifies the process but it is not an accurate method and should be avoided when possible.

Accuracy of drop may be secured further by keeping the seed hoppers at least half full at all times.

Blank Hills at the Ends of Rows

Accuracy of drop depends also to some extent upon the speed of the valve. It sometimes happens that at one end of the row we will happen to stop the team just as the button on the check wire has begun to force the check arm. The valves work so slowly at such a time or stop at such a point that in some planters the seed at the top of the boot drops clear through to the ground instead of being intercepted at the bottom of the boot. Two hills drop at once, then, and when we have turned around there are no kernels at the lower valve ready for the first hill on the return trip. On some planters we may overcome the difficulty by foot dropping one hill while the team is turning. On other planters the only remedy is to stop sooner at the end of the row or to drive ahead at usual speed until the wire has released the check arm.

Accuracy in Check

Considerable attention is usually given to securing accurate checking, but a word regarding the adjustment will not be amiss. Accurate checking means possibility of closer cultivation and less loss by cultivating out hills. The manufacturer has found that under usual conditions the check wire will travel from one to three inches across the field, and inasmuch as the slack will always be ahead of the machine, he designs his planter to drop the hill at a distance behind the button equal to one-half the travel. On the return trip the hill is again dropped behind the button and thus the hills should check in spite of the wire travel. It can readily be seen then that if our shoes or furrow openers are dropping nearer to or farther away from the button than half the wire travel, our system for securing good checking will be materially interfered with and adjustments must be made at A in Fig. 1.

This tongue adjustment will vary on the different makes of planters. On some it is at the rear end of the tongue, but it will be found on all the popular makes. As a rule the front frame of the planter should be run level, and it can be so run with a properly drawn check wire. But different tensions on the wire drawn by different drivers may necessitate throwing the front frame slightly out of a horizontal position. If the planter drops too close to the button, make such tongue adjustment as will drop the furrow openers back a little toward the wheels. To some extent tightening the check wire will accomplish the same result in the check. Forcing the furrow openers a little ahead by means of the tongue adjustment will cause the hill

It can be seen that the absorption bands at 1710 and 1730 cm $^{-1}$  due to the carbonyl groups of the phthalic acid units are present in all the spectra. The absorption bands at 1220 and 1240 cm $^{-1}$  due to the carbonyl groups of the terephthalic acid units are also present in all the spectra. The absorption bands at 1050 and 1070 cm $^{-1}$  due to the carbonyl groups of the phthalic acid units are present in all the spectra except that of the polyester obtained from 10 mol %  $\text{M}_1$ . A Spread Check Fork May Cause Stringing to be dropped a little close to the button, or having the check wire a little more slack will have the same result in the check. In testing for accuracy of check by digging up hills, select hills pretty close behind the planter. Adjusting the neckyoke straps will also affect the check. The adjustment shown in Fig. 1 is also a means of maintaining a good check when different heights of teams are used and when the difference cannot be compensated for by adjusting the neckyoke straps.

Uniform tension in the check wire must be maintained if accurate checking is to result. Some drivers even go so far as to make allowance for the expansion and contraction of the check wire due to varying temperature from day to day, but this is getting too particular to be practical. It is practical, however, where planting is being done up and down a slope, to pull the wire tighter when setting the high stake.

Uniform Depth of Planting

In planting over a rough field, a more uniform depth can often be secured by floating the furrow openers, but when this is done the operator should keep the openers under foot control so that the shoes may be forced to their depth in dry spots and kept from planting too deep in moist, soft spots. There are a number of shoe gauges now on the market which attach to shoes to insure uniform depth when floating is desirable. Such attachments should prove valuable if properly used where the conditions demand. Stringing of the hill may be caused by (a) dirt in the boot, and (b) by a spread check arm. Trouble from the first cause will probably be due to the team having set back on the planter while the shoes were still in the ground. Clean out the boot bottom thoroughly and the rest of the remedy is obvious.

Trouble (b) is less easily detected. If the check arm is spread as is shown at B in Fig. 2, the wire button will let go of the check arm before the valves have been forced wide open, to the result that the kernels will be strung out in the row rather than being dropped well together. By means of a hammer, drive the arm halves together to their original position, but in so doing care must be taken not to get the halves so closely together that binding of the wire will result. The check arm halves can be left straight as shown at A in Fig. 2. Some operators find that stringing is due to a badly worn shoe. If this is determined to be the cause, new parts must usually be supplied.

Clutch Troubles

Clutches on the various planters differ so widely in design that no specific rules can be given that would apply to all makes. Failure of the clutch to grip or release can often be overcome by thoroughly cleaning the parts, and if the striking forces are worn round, new parts may have to be secured. On most planters this means but slight expense and a little patience.

Timing the Plate Rims

Breakage may necessitate removal of the rim which drives the plate. This rim is timed with the pinion on the shaft which drives the plates from the clutch, and when the rim is replaced on the machine the "time" must be re-established. If the plate rim is out of time with the pinion, inaccuracy will result because the plate itself will not stop at the proper time.

On some machines the cog teeth of the rim and pinion are so marked or constructed that it is very easy to ascertain the proper relation between the two castings. Before removing the rim the operator should carefully seek any such guides so that he may know just how to replace the parts. If no guide is found on the arm and on the shaft pinion, make a mark on each by means of a cold chisel, and then in replacing parts bring these two marks into the same relation to each other as at first. It sometimes happens that after replacing a rim or adding a new one, it breaks as soon as it revolves. This is due to non-timing.

The question is often asked: "Is the disc furrow opener preferable to the ordinary shoe runner?" The single disc opener has better penetration than the shoe and will cut through trash to better advantage, but it throws the soil to one side and covering is made more difficult. The double disc has less penetrating ability than the single disc, but covering can be more easily accomplished after it.

In hard, thrashy ground, then, the disc opener should prove preferable to the shoe opener, but in a well prepared seed bed, well free from surface trash, the shoe is strongly advocated because of its simplicity. The planter with disc openers cannot be considered a heavy draft implement, but the discs carry bearings which must work in soil and one may always expect trouble with such a combination.

Livestock Farmer's Medicine Chest

By Dr. A. S. Alexander, in Prairie Farmer

When a farmer can employ a competent graduate veterinarian at reasonable expense it always is best to do so, and in all serious cases such expert help should be used even if the expense will be considerable. Unfortunately it is not always possible to find such an expert or he may live at such a distance that an ordinary or trivial case will not warrant the expense of his employment, or the nearest veterinarian may not be a properly qualified practitioner, or is one in whom the stockman has no confidence.

For these reasons every owner of animals should keep some simple remedies on hand, and these are necessary even on farms where professional assistance can readily be had. It should be understood, however, that the untrained farmer should not attempt the administration of strong poisons, alkaloids and many preparations used hypodermically by a graduate veterinarian. Such preparations are extremely dangerous in the hands of the layman and are liable to do much more harm than good. The trained surgeon also should be depended upon for all major operations.

A cupboard may be set apart for storing medicines in a cool, dry place and where freezing will not occur in winter. A glass graduate and scales will be necessary for measuring and weighing medicines. Powdered drugs should be kept in tightly closed glass fruit jars and should be plainly labeled. They may soon lose their strength if exposed to the air. Poisons should be kept on a separate part of a shelf partitioned off for the purpose and away from simple, harmless drugs. Ointments, with the exception of fly blister, should be made up fresh at time of use. Liniment may be prepared and kept indefinitely if well corked.

The medicine case should also have a special division in which to keep a few instruments, bandages, suture silk and absorbent cotton; or better still, these may be kept in a handbag for immediate use as required. The emergency bag should contain a roll of absorbent cotton, several rolled three-yard bandages of unbleached muslin in strips three inches wide, a pound or two of oakum, a spool of strong suture silk, half a dozen suture needles of assorted shapes and sizes, most of them large; a half-ounce, short-barreled, strong-nozzled hard rubber syringe, a two-ounce metal syringe, a cow trocar and canula for tapping a bloated animal, a pair of curved shears, a combination operating knife containing a curved bistoury, a probe pointed bistoury and a strong straight scalpel, a few milking tubes and a teat bistoury, an artery forceps, metal probe, castrating knife and pair of horse clippers.

These will suffice, but there are many other useful instruments such as a clinical thermometer, horse trocar, catheter and dentistry "float," which may be added from time to time. Some of the medicines to be listed later may also have a place in the emergency kit or bag, notably those needed for the treatment of wounds, and at hand should be a strong quart drenching bottle and ten feet of quarter-inch cotton rope with which to hold up a horse's head for drenching. A veterinary force pump is added on a large farm, but its place may be taken by three feet of new lawn sprinkling hose fitted with a large tin funnel. This is used to give a horse or cow a rectal injection. There should also be a six-foot piece of new half-inch rubber tubing for use in giving a cow or mare a vaginal injection.

Simple necessary medicines may best be listed under the following special heads:

Physics

Epsom and Glauber Salts. Average dose for an adult cow, one pound in three pints of warm water. Dose for a horse, 12 ounces.

Castor Oil. Especially useful for young animals. Dose for a calf or foal, from 1 to 6 tablespoonsful shaken up in milk.

Translating Hebrews' Metaphorical Christ

by Mark A. Strobel

The New Testament book of Hebrews uses the metaphor of Christ as High Priest to describe his ministry. This metaphor is used to emphasize the unique nature of Christ's sacrifice and its importance for salvation. The author of Hebrews uses this metaphor to argue that Jesus' sacrifice is superior to those of the Old Testament priests. He also uses it to encourage his readers to persevere in their faith and to trust in Christ's sacrifice. The metaphor of Christ as High Priest is a powerful tool for communicating the message of salvation and the importance of Jesus' sacrifice. It helps us to understand the unique nature of Christ's sacrifice and its importance for salvation.

Raw Linsed Oil (not boiled, which is poisonous). Average dose, one pint for constipation and to follow a dose of colic medicine, or contain medicine for colic.

Barbados Aloes (freshly powdered). Average dose, one ounce, to be given to an adult horse as a "physic ball."

Wound Medicines

Keep in stock one pint each of carbolic acid and coal tar disinfectant and a gallon can of the latter for dipping and disinfecting purposes. Two teaspoonfuls to a pint of water ordinarily makes a sufficiently strong solution. Bleeding is stopped by applying Monsel's solution of iron on oakum or cotton batting, or applying Monsel's powder. As a wound lotion also keep on hand a mixture of one ounce of sugar of lead and six drams of sulphate of zinc in one pint of water. This is called "white lotion" and should be plainly labeled "poison" and well shaken before use.

Dusting Powders

A dusting powder of equal parts of slackened lime, charcoal and sulphur is useful for application to surface wounds and sores. Boracic acid also is needed and a little iodoform may be added to keep flies away.

Liniments

Keep on hand a pint (pound) each of turpentine and aqua ammonia. One ounce each of these mixed with a pint of soft water, in which two raw eggs have been shaken up and the mixture left for 24 hours, will make a good stimulating liniment; or one ounce of each may be mixed with 6 to 14 ounces of raw linseed oil to make a very strong or comparatively mild liniment.

Lotions

"White lotion" for wounds has already been mentioned. Equal quantities of lime water and raw linseed oil make "cartron oil," an excellent lotion for burns. Two to four ounces of Goulard's extract and one to two ounces of glycerine in one quart of soft water form a useful lotion for scratches and mud fever of itchiness and "gumminess" of the legs. A good lotion for inflammation of the udder is made by mixing together one part each of fluid extracts of poke root and belladonna leaves and one part of turpentine with five parts of sweet oil, melted lard or camphorated oil. It is made weaker or stronger as required. Anodyne lotion for painful swellings is made by combining equal quantities of tincture of opium, aconite, belladonna and druggists' soap liniment. A small quantity of chloroform may be added. Mouth lotion consists of an ounce of powdered borax or alum in a quart of soft water; eye lotion of half a dram each of sulphate of zinc and fluid extract of belladonna in a quart of soft water.

Tonics

Fowler's solution of arsenic is a good general tonic for rundown, thin, hidebound horses and those afflicted with chronic skin diseases or heaves (broken wind). The average dose is half an ounce (one tablespoonful) given night and morning until one quart has been given. The medicine may then be gradually discontinued, taking at least a week to the work. Dried sulphate of iron (copperas), dose one dram night and morning, is another good tonic, commonly combined with an equal dose of ground gentian root or ginger root, nux vomica, saltpeter and fenugreek as a condition powder. The dose is one tablespoonful of the combination of drugs mixed in the feed night and morning for ten days. Omit sulphate of iron for pregnant animals. Nux is poisonous and must therefore be given with care. It is most useful as a nerve tonic and appetizer.

Colic Medicines

Keep in stock one pound each of laudanum (dose, 1 to 2 ounces); essence of ginger root (dose, 1 to 2 drams); sulphuric acid (dose,  $\frac{1}{2}$  to 1 ounce); turpentine (dose, 1 to 2 ounces); granular hyposulphite of soda (dose, 1 to 4 ounces). A dose of each of the first three medicines in a pint of water containing two ounces of hyposulphite of soda will prove effective for most colics. Two ounces of turpentine in a pint of raw linsed oil may be given for "wind" (flatulent) colic, or following the other medicine when the pain of "cramp" (spasmodic) colic has subsided.

Fever Medicines

Powdered saltpeter is an important drug for animals. It is given in the fever of influenza, founder (laminitis) or lymphangitis (milk leg, also for stocking of the legs and other large swellings. A dram is the average dose. Give it every four or six hours in fever, twice daily for swellings, or with tonics as a condition powder, and in double doses for founder or milk leg. Do not give it in colt distemper, when abscesses are forming. It may often be administered in drinking water or a bran mash or damp feed. It also is given in tablespoonful doses once or twice daily for garget of the cow. Beware of aconite often given for fever. It is too dangerous a poison to be safely used by anyone other than a trained doctor.

Blister

An effective blistering ointment is made by melting together three parts of lard and one-quarter part of finely shaved, yellow beeswax, and then stirring it one part of powdered cantharides (Spanish fly). Stir in a tin dish until cold, then store in a capped glass fruit jar. It improves with age. When using this blister clip off the hair, wash the skin clean, dry it perfectly. Tie the horse up short in his stall, rub the blister in for fifteen minutes and then smear on some more blister. Wash the blister off in 48 hours and then apply a little lard daily. Do not cover a blistered part, or rub it on the loins, or on top of the hips, or use it after a poultice, or on irritated skin, or in very hot or cold weather.

Absorbents

Never be without tincture of iodine to swab on swollen glands, tumors, forming abscesses, bony growths, capped or puffed joints, indolent sores or wounds, canker of the mouth in pigs and ringworm spots. It also is useful to inject into abscesses, fistula and lump jaw cavities. Iodine ointment is made by mixing one dram each of iodine crystals and iodide of potash in one ounce of lard. This is used on swellings, sore necks and shoulders, puffs of all sorts, tumors, forming abscesses, ringworm spots and enlargements of the udder. As an absorbent blister rub up one dram of biniiodide of mercury with two ounces of the fly blister already mentioned and use on bony growths, such as splints and ringbone, callouses, indolent sores, tumors of the udder.

Worm Medicines

Gasoline is kept on most farms and in tablespoonful doses in six ounces of milk is the best remedy for stomach worms in sheep. Lambs take less in proportion. Two ounces of turpentine in a pint of raw linseed oil is effective as a starting dose for a "wormy horse." Follow with worm powders composed of equal parts of salt, sulphur and dried sulphate of iron. Dose, one tablespoonful night and morning for a week, then skip ten days and repeat. Omit iron for pregnant animals. For worms of swine give one teaspoonful of turpentine in slop for three consecutive days for each eighty pounds of body weight; or one dram of dried sulphate of iron in slop for five successive mornings for each hundred pounds of body weight. Where swine are known to be seriously infested with worms, give eight grains of santonin and five grains of calomel in a little slop for each hundred pounds of body weight. Divide the pigs into lots of five and give the medicine in a little slop after starving the animals for eighteen hours. Care must be taken to give only the doses here prescribed, else damage may be done.

Disinfectants

In the paragraph on wound medicines it has been advised to keep carbolic acid and coal tar disinfectant in stock. To these may be added formaldehyde, bichloride of mercury tablets and permanganate of potash crystals. In disinfecting a stable a solution of four or five ounces of formaldehyde to the gallon, or a 1-1,000 of bichloride of mercury (corrosive sublimate) or a 1-30 solution of carbolic acid or coal tar disinfectant should be used after a thorough cleaning of the premises. For wounds a 1-1,000 solution of corrosive sublimate also is the most effective disinfectant and a 1-500 solution should be used for disinfecting when a spore-forming germ, like that of anthrax, is present. Permanganate of potash is a useful mild disinfectant (antiseptic and deodorizer) in a 1-5,000 to a 1-50 solution. The weaker solution is used lukewarm for vaginal injection purposes, while the 2 per cent solution is useful for injection into cavities from which come bad-smelling discharges and for swabbing sores (cancers) of the mouth. As a wound lotion it is usual to employ a 2 to 5 per cent solution of carbolic acid, or lysol, or coal tar disinfectant. Carbolic acid is also much used as an internal disinfectant in contagious abortion. Two drams of the acid is well diluted with water and mixed in soft feed for each pregnant cow every other night throughout pregnancy. Peroxide of hydrogen one part and clean water two or three parts is a popular disinfectant for cleansing foul wounds.

Scour Medicines

The farm medicine chest would not be completely stocked without some remedies for diarrhoea or scours. A mixture of one part of salol and two parts of bismuth (first prescribed years ago by the writer) has become a standard remedy among farmers. The average dose is one teaspoonful given two or three times a day and washed down with milk or water. The dose may be doubled in bad cases and for larger calves and foals. Prepared chalk, powdered alum, sulphur, powdered catechu, rhubarb and ginger root are also much used for diarrhoea.

Administering Medicines

Small doses of liquid medicine, such as the average two-ounce dose of a fever medicine or tonic solution, are best given by means of a half-ounce hard rubber syringe. Expert veterinarians sometimes give such medicines of bad-tasting drugs in gelatine capsules, or in form of a "ball." Worm, condition and tonic powders are mixed in damp grain feed. A large dose of liquid medicine is termed a "drench" and is given from a strong, long-necked bottle. A few inches of rubber hose may be fitted on the neck of such a bottle.

To drench a horse, back him into a stall, place a running noose of soft, small cotton rope or "clothes line" upon the upper incisor teeth, under the upper lip, and draw the noose tight, with the knot of the rope to the front. Throw the loose end of the rope across an overhead beam, raise the horse's head, hold it there by means of the rope and pour the medicine into the mouth a little at a time until all is swallowed. Do not squeeze the throat of the horse when giving medicine and never pour the medicine into the nostril. If the horse will not swallow, pour a teaspoonful of cold water into a nostril and swallowing will instantly occur.

To drench a cow, place her in a stanchion or tie her in a stall. Walk up on her right side (milking side). Pass the left hand across her face and into her mouth. Hold her head in a straight line forward and slightly elevated, not turned to one side. Pour the medicine very slowly into the right side of the mouth. Let the head down instantly if the medicine causes the cow (or horse) to cough. Fluid given too fast passes into the paunch and is practically wasted. Administered slowly, it largely goes to the third and fourth stomachs and absorption takes place in the latter.

Sheep have to be very carefully drenched from a bottle to avoid choking. Swine take medicine through a hole cut in the toe of an old shoe thrust into the mouth or from a short, strong rubber hose fitted in the neck of a strong bottle. Dogs take medicine in capsules inserted in meat or from a bottle or spoon emptied into a pouch formed of the lip and cheek.

Avoid "doping" animals unnecessarily. Medicine should only be given when the animal is sick, should be the right medicine, and is best prescribed by an expert.

VALUE OF LABOR

The United States Department of Agriculture found in 1855 that it required four hours and 34 minutes of human labor to produce a bushel of corn. At the Minnesota experiment station it has been found recently that 45 minutes of human labor is about the average time required for the same work. In other words, human labor is worth six times as much as it was 60 years ago, due to the use of better machinery, better varieties of corn and better soil management.

Some Common Unsoundness

By Dr. A. S. Alexander, in Prairie Farmer

TAKE nothing for granted when buying a horse. One should make sure about doubtful things. If the eye cannot decide the matter the hand may be employed to corroborate or disprove; but the eye should be the main dependence and the hand used only as a last resort. An Irishman does not like to buy a pig "in a poke." He wants to see and examine the "rent payer" and may even make the animal squeal to be sure that he is getting his money's worth. In just the same way one must make the most careful examination of every part of a horse, "size up" the entire combination of points and make sure that there is lack of vice, soundness of eyes, wind and limb, and perfect fitness for the special kind of work the animal will have to do.

A famous veterinary teacher once called upon his senior students to examine a lame horse and state in writing what they thought was the cause of lameness. The horse had a splint, one sidebone and a small ringbone affecting the lame leg. To one or other of these three unsoundnesses each student in turn attributed the lameness. But one learns best by making mistakes and this truth was soon "rubbed in" by the teacher. Having collected the reports he told the smith who was standing by, to remove the shoe from the lame foot. Then a majority of the students noticed for the first time that the sole of the foot was covered with a thick leather pad. When the leather came off puss spouted from a nail prick wound which had been purposely hidden. Lameness was due to the nail prick, not to splint, ringbone or sidebone, and the laugh was on the "boys." Never again would one of them be similarly caught and so a never - to - be - forgotten lesson was learned. Every intending purchaser should learn this lesson, too, and be a "doubting Thomas" until his hands have felt where the eyes could not definitely decide a mooted point.

Seek to deal with men of known integrity in business. If not expert, and the horse to be bought is a dear one, it will be good policy to employ a veterinarian to make a critical examination. Better visit the stable when not expected and see the horse in the stall. There some things can be learned that will not be seen when the horse is warmed up. You should be able to enter and leave the stall on the left side of the horse, without being received with a bite or expelled with a kick. Note, too, if the horse digs a hole in the floor by pawing, or chews his manger and hay rack, which may indicate cribbing and wind sucking, or weaves from side to side, or pulls back on the halter. Make him "stand over" and note if he jerks up a hind leg, or hops over. The hopping may indicate spavin lameness, which quickly disappears when the horse is warmed up.

Splint

Curb

The jerking up of a hind leg may be accompanied by quivering of muscles and tail and such a horse is a "shiverer" or "crampy" and afflicted with incurable St. Vitus' dance. The symptoms of the latter disease become more apparent as the horse backs out of the stall, but quickly subside with slight exercise. If the animal has "string halt" the jerking up of the hind legs is continued as long as the horse is in motion, he does not warm out of it. When a horse is brought out for inspection "on a run" or "dead jump" it is impossible to detect spavin lameness or chorea and even string halt may not be noticed. This will be more certainly the case if the horse is turned loose in deep snow, or plowed land, or in a straw bedded paddock. This commonly is done. Sometimes an old plug that has scarcely animation enough to get out of its own way will kick up, strut and trot, proud as a peacock, when suddenly the halter shank, previously cut part way through breaks and the old pilgrim imagines he has broken loose by his own great strength. This trick is often tried. Never allow the dealer to keep the horse "in the air."

After making an examination in the stall watch the horse for a while as he stands at ease on a level floor. Maybe he cannot stand at ease. If a foot hurts, soon that foot will be thrust forward; if two hurt each will be thrust forward; if two hurt, each will be advanced turn about; if four hurt the horse will rest each foot in turn.

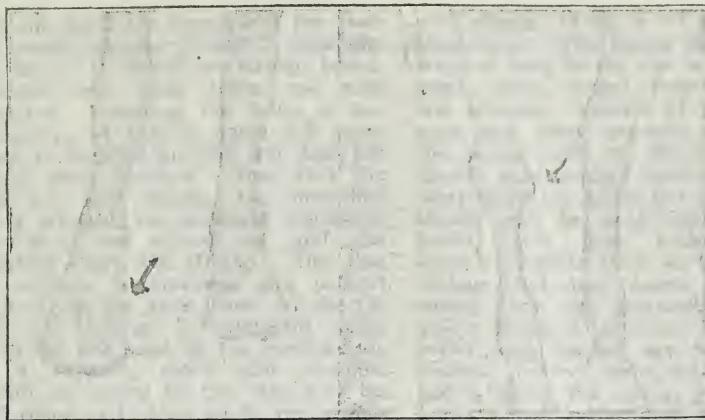

And do not forget to walk around the horse that every part may meet the eye. Often one side is a pretty picture, the other marred. See both sides, for often the animal is turned toward the wall if an eye is out, a big bare spot present or some unsoundness there that had best be kept hidden. A "watch" or "wall" eye can see, but it is unsightly. The tour of inspection around the horse discloses such blemishes.

Remember about not buying a pig in a poke, so remove the blanket from all fancy harness and see that the halter has no springs and trusses to press down upon the nostrils to prevent high blowing and "roaring." Many a man has neglected to remove a horse's hood before buying and afterward has discovered that it hid a crooked, lopped, or split ear, fistula of the base of the ear, a "poll evil" or some unsightly blemish.

Don't get too close to the horse when making the preliminary examination. Ex-Governor Hoard, of Wisconsin, once said that in farm business matters a man may hold a cent piece so close to his eye that it keeps him from seeing a big silver dollar a little further off. So if one rushes up and grabs a foot, before viewing what the French term the tout ensemble—the assemblage of all points—he misses the comprehensive estimate of the horse as a whole and that is of most importance. When one has looked the horse over from a little distance and from all points of view and has seen how the animal stands and behaves it will be time enough to scrutinize each component part of his anatomy. First we shall see him move away and back, at a walk, then at a trot, and finally we shall gallop him. Be there when he stops and so decide as to the soundness of his "wind." It is not enough to test the "wind" by standing the horse close to a wall and suddenly threatening to strike him with a whip. The sudden fright may cause the animal to grunt loudly, but this does not necessarily prove that such a "bull" is unsound in wind.

Many sound horses grunt when so threatened, or even when one goes to mount. In the latter instances it is a nervous "expression" and nothing serious. When watching the horse at rest one should note that he does not heave at the flanks, cough or pass gas from the rectum. These are the symptoms of "heaves"; but the "heavey" horse may be "shut" or "doped" with drugs so that temporarily the symptoms do not show. Usually they will quickly appear if the horse is given all the hay and water he wants and then is galloped. Roaring sometimes is temporarily relieved by plugging the nostrils with a sponge or squeezed half lemon. Discharge is also prevented by this means. It is best to locate these at once than have them sneezed into the feed box when the horse is yours.

At both walk and trot the horse should go straight, level and true, each joint perfectly fixed, the soles of the feet well turned up, as he goes away, and no "padding," "winging," in or out, "forging," stumbling or toe dragging noticeable. Lameness should be absent. If the horse passes muster when in motion and his style, action and conformation are suitable, he next may be critically examined as he stands at rest. He should stand square and firm on each foot. The profile of the front and back of each leg should show no abnormal bends, curves, puffs, swellings, or lumps. If any one of these things is seen its nature will have to be carefully determined. The eyes should be sound and of the same color. The pupils should dilate in the dark and contract when the horse is brought into the light. Angular, wrinkled eyebrows and sunken eyes denote previous attacks of "moon blindness" (periodic ophthalmia). "Smoky" or "opaque," or "pearl grey," or "curdy" appearance of the cornea (anterior chamber of the eye) denote more serious stages of the disease or blindness from cataract or glaucoma. A brilliant sparkling prominent eye ("glassy eye") may be stone blind from paralysis of the retina and optic nerve. The ears should neither be absolutely unused, nor abnormally active. The former may indicate deafness; the latter, impaired vision, nervousness or vice.

See that a thread from ear to ear under the forelock, does not keep lop ears upright and that a leaden ball, suspended from a thread in the ear, is not preventing undue motion. The horse should let one handle his ears, his poll (back of ears), the top of the neck, where the collar will bear, and the withers, where fistulous openings or their scars so commonly are found. Fighting against such handling indicates a reason for fear and the reason usually is that a twitch has been used on the ear and the horse may be hard to shoe, have sore neck from the collar, poll evil or fistulous withers, or have suffered a previous operation for such disease.

Handle each part upon which harness will have to bear and see that it is sound and free from sores, tumors or abscesses. The nostrils should be large, under command of the will, rosy pink inside, not slit and free from abnormal discharge. See that the breath does not smell foul and that the teeth are sound and the jaws not under or over "short." Examine the back. It should be strong, broad, straight, free from sores and well muscled. Pinching the loins is unnecessary. A ticklish horse will squat when so handled but the test does not detect weak kidneys. Note that the ribs are well sprung, the underline fairly straight, the abdomen capacious, the flank not tucked up and the coupling short and strong. See that no wounds or abscesses are present high up on the right flank, as the result of tapping for flatulent colic. With the left hand on the horse's loin, as a support, stoop and examine sheath, or udder as the case may be, and other parts high up in the groins.

Examine the tail, which should be strong, not artificial ("joined on") and not rubbed bare from itchiness. Lift it and see that the black skin below is free from tumors, the anus clean, well pursed up, free from scurvy substances or streaks of mucous; or, in the mare, that the space between rectum and vulva is intact and that no discharge comes from the latter. Looking from the rear, compare one hip with the other. If one is "knocked down" that side will be steep. At each side of the tail is the tuberosity of the ischium. Like the point of the hip (ilium) this often is fractured, leaving one side depressed. All parts of the shoulders, neck, barrel and hindquarters should be smoothly and deeply covered with sound muscles.

Now examine each hoof. Cracks, rings, ridges and meatiness should be absent, frogs and bars prominent, soles slightly concave, heels wide, coronets (hoof heads) open and strong, hoofs waxy, smooth and ample in size. Object to a horse that has steep narrow heels with a deep cleft in frog, also one that has chronic corns, chronic thrush, "dropped" (convex) soles, or hoof walls showing toe or quarter cracks.

Make sure that the elbows are free from hard or soft tumors or abscesses called "shoe boils" and that the knees are free from hairless scars and are straight, wide, deep and strong. All joints should be large, clean, bony and strong. This is of the greatest importance. The joints cannot be too large so long as the size is made up of large, clean sound bones, ligaments and tendons. Beware of puffs, meatiness and bony growths which give the wrong sort of size. The knees should have perfect flexion, no matter what work the horse has to do. They should not be bent forward (buck knees) nor bent backward (calè knees). Splints close to the knee are serious; but low down, on an adult horse, they are practically harmless, unless struck by a shoe. Splints, ringbones and spavins are bony excrescences. Splints come on the cannon bones, along the course of the splint bones (small metacarpals and metatarsals).

Ringbones are found high, medium or low, on the long pastern, and often involve the short pasterns. Bone spavins are found at the lower, front, inner aspect of the hock joints. Bog spavins are soft bursal distensions of the hock joints, above and in front of the seat of bone spavins. Thoropins are bursal distensions seen at the sides of the hocks, towards the rear and when pressed on one side bulge out on the opposite side. "Wind galls" are similar puffs in connection with the tendons at and just above the fetlock joints. A curb appears as a hard enlargement giving a rounded bulging contour to the profile of the back of the hock joint, looking from the side.

Splints are most easily seen by standing in front of the horse, then examining further by feeling the parts involved, first with the foot standing down firm, then with it off the ground. Ringbones are best seen from a side view of the profile of the long pastern. The hand may have to help in their detection. To examine for spavins look between the forelegs at the inner, lower profile of each hock. The hard "knob" on one hock probably will prove to be a bone spavin. A small spavin is called a "jack" and it is apt to prove serious and grow to be a large spavin. Spavin may also be detected from a quartering view of the hock, or from the rear.

Binder Troubles and Adjustments

By C. O. Reed, University of Illinois, in Prairie Farmer

To have to await the services of an expert when every minute of the harvest days is money is not only an expensive practice, but in most cases is an unnecessary one if the operator will only use patience and good judgment and try to understand a few very simple principles of what seems a complicated machine. The purpose of this article is to aid the operator in his most common binder troubles. To cover the ground in the most logical and concise manner, let us consider troubles under the three general heads: general binder troubles, binder head troubles and knotter head troubles.

Starting. If possible, start the new machine on a road or in a pasture before going into the grain field. Use plenty of kerosene and run the machine empty for about five minutes, taking notice that every duct to bearings and every oil hole is open. Then apply lubricating oil. When you are ready to enter the grain with a new machine, raise the machine well up, tilt the platform forward; open the throat of the machine by throwing the butt adjuster forward and start in with about one-half of a full swath. After five minutes work the machine is ready for maximum results. If compelled to make a full swath at the start, cut the grain extra high.

Never change the adjustment of a new binder head before going into the field. It may miss a few bundles at first, but do not adjust. Apply a liberal amount of coal oil to the knotter head and the trouble will usually disappear.

New Machine Failing to Start. Occasionally a new machine fails to start due to some part sticking or catching. Throw the binder out of gear and see that the bull wheel revolves without catching. Remove the elevator chain and throw in gear. This will test the sickle. Next put on elevator chain and throw off reel chains. This will test the rollers. Then connect and test the reel. This method will test one part at a time and should locate the trouble without difficulty. In testing out head for failure to revolve, operate head by hand at back of machine through shaft which drives head from elevator chain.

General Binder Troubles

Chains. Undue wear in chains may be caused by the chain being run too tight or backwards. Run the chain with the hooks of the links leading and with the openings of the hooks out. The use of oil or grease on chains, if the binder is being run in a sandy country or under dusty conditions, is not to be recommended, for the oil will collect the fine particles of grit and cause excessive wear. Under such conditions use dry graphite. Chain jumping is caused by the chain being too loose or by the sprocket being badly worn. If a worn sprocket is the cause for the trouble a new one will have to be supplied.

Canvas Troubles. The creeping of canvases is caused by running them too loose or by the elevators not being square. Test the elevators to see if they are square by means of measuring the diagonals, and then square by the special apparatus to be found for that purpose. Have the canvases of the same tightness on both sides.

Canvases not elevating the grain may be caused by missing slats or loose canvases. Broken slats are generally caused by the elevators not being square, or by the canvases not being buckled evenly and thus the slat is forced to pass over the roller at an angle to it. Chewed slats may be caused by a projecting bolt or the canvas guides being out of shape.

Heavy Draft. Heavy draft may be caused from lack of sufficient good lubricating oil, bull wheel being entered in quadrant wrong; chains, especially main drive chain, being too tight; paint or varnish not being cut out of the bearings; or rollers binding. Apply lubricating oil to the bearings. Enter the bull wheel in the quadrant square. Have the proper tension in the chains. Coal oil will cut the paint.

or varnish from bearing surfaces. When machine is empty, operator should be able to move elevators by hand on elevator chain.

Sidedraft. Sidedraft in a binder refers to such resistance of the platform end of the machine as to cause a "dragging" of platform, and hence results in a tendency to run the machine into the grain. It may be caused by (a) grain wheel bearing too light; (b) grain wheel being out of proper adjustment; (c) sickle parts not cutting properly, resulting in a pulling off of stalks rather than cutting; (d) very light grain may give a condition where sidedraft is more noticeable, and (e) a fast horse on the outside may lead the operator to believe he has sidedraft.

Remedies. (a) See that grain wheel revolves freely and perfectly on axle. If axle, bearings and wheel bell are badly worn, replace. (b) The inexperienced operator cannot tell whether a grain wheel is aligned properly or not. It should lead out of the grain slightly, and in case of poor alignment here, an expert must be called. (c) Obvious. (d) Sidedraft here is an advantage rather than an objection for it indicates the best construction. (e) Put fast horse on inside.

If difficulty is experienced in getting far enough into the grain with a tongue truck attachment, make adjustments to increase the angle between the platform and tongue proper, i. e., without changing position of machine make adjustments to let horses away from grain slightly. If machine runs too far into grain, make adjustments to bring horses a little closer to grain line. These adjustments can be found between tongue and stub tongue on the McCormick and Milwaukee binders, and in the truck axle braces on the Deering. If sufficient adjustment is not provided in the Deering to permit a full swath, turn the tongue over.

Badly Shaped Bundles in good grain are caused by improper manipulation of binder parts. Set the reel to strike straws about two inches below the heads. Run the butter as near at right angles to the rollers on tier shaft as possible, even if you have to sacrifice an inch or two in the position of the band on the bundle. Do not expect the butter to shove the straws down under the breast plate. Adjust the position of the head to bring the straws under the breast plate and then adjust the butter to smooth the butt of the bundle. In uneven grain the head, butter and reel must be shifted often to obtain the best results. In very short grain or in down grain leaning toward the elevators we have probably the worst conditions for good bundle making, especially for eight-foot binders. First, do all possible to retard the heads by running the platform as level as possible and place a rope head-retarder across the platform, tying the same to the outside divided frame. A rope head-retarder is often found to give better results than the retarding strap iron sent out with the machine, but if the latter is used, the operator will find that he gets very good results in retarding heads by bending up or crinkling the end of the strap iron. Throw the head as far forward as possible and run the butter as near perpendicular to the rollers as possible to still have the bundle securely tied. Tighten the front grain check.

Badly Shaped Bundles in Long Tangled Grain can be remedied by loosening all grain checks slightly and by adjusting the head to tie a smaller, looser bundle.

Getting Grain Down to Packers. Trouble is sometimes experienced in getting light, fluffy grain down to the packers. See that the deck roller is working properly and lower the deck cover.

Choking Down. Sometimes in heavy, fluffy and tangled grain, and often in flax, the head cannot discharge a bundle and is stopped by "choking." Adjust the head to tie a smaller, looser bundle, loosen all grain checks and loosen the tension on the compressor spring, which is the spring attached to the compressor rod.

Bundles Too Loose or Too Tight. Tighten or loosen the trip spring shown in Illustration 1 and described below under "Binder Head Troubles." Do not attempt to make a tight bundle by tightening the twine tension on the twine can. The twine tension is not for the purpose of affecting the tightness of bundles and if it is used for such purpose serious needle troubles will result. The twine tension should be sufficiently tight to keep back slack in the twine between the can and needle.

Bundles Too Large or Too Small. Move the compressor arm nearer or farther away from the needle. The compressor arm is that arm against which the bundle is formed and as it is moved in or out that space in which the bundle is formed is changed.

Reel Troubles. Short oats is often the cause for considerable reel trouble, especially reel breakage on those machines which have no outside reel support. The operator cutting short oats will necessarily have to tilt his platform well forward and run his reel low. This means that occasionally the reel slats will whip down onto the guards and result in broken parts. Farmers in some localities have solved this difficulty by tacking on to each reel slat a piece of heavy linoleum about six inches wide. The reel can then be run higher, for this extra piece on the slats serves admirably to force the grain over onto the platform and at the same time is sufficiently flexible to give if the reel is whipped down on the guards.

Binder Head Troubles

Before taking up binder head troubles let us refer to the first illustration and get clearly in mind the exact function of the parts mentioned.

Every operator is aware that his packer shaft revolves continually and that at certain moments it must drive the whole binder head while the bundle is being tied and cast. The dog, shown in the illustration, is that mechanism which throws the head in motion with the rest of the machine, or it is that mechanism which momentarily engages the head with the continuous motion of the packers while the bundle is being tied. Sufficient pressure by the straw on the trip arm raises the stop arm, shown in the illustration, which allows the dog to be forced into the path of the continually revolving binder head driver. A little spring attached to the dog forces the dog into the path of this driver when the dog is released, and this same spring holds the dog in this path until the stop arm can drop back into place and force the dog back out of the way of the revolving drivers of the packer shaft. When the dog is thrown back out of the path of the binder head drivers, the motion in the head ceases and the dog, if properly working, must remain engaged with the packer shaft until the discharge arms make a complete revolution. The continuity of motion in the head depends upon the dog.

Discharge Arms Fail to Start or Fail to Revolve Completely. This is a dog trouble. See that the dog spring is in place and is of sufficient strength to hold the dog in the path of the binder head drivers when the dog is released. See also that the striking faces of the dog and dog driver are not worn sufficiently to permit them to slip by one another. If the discharge arms revolve by jerks it is very probable that a worn condition in the striking faces is the cause.

Discharge Arms Revolve Continually. Before discussing this trouble a word should be said regarding timing. It will be noticed that every part of the binder head except the packers works at a certain moment in relation to other parts. The dog makes a certain number of revolutions before the stop arm is allowed to drop back into place to throw the dog out of engagement with the binder head drivers. Hence the relation between the stop arm and the dog is a set relation maintained through beveled gears. If for any reason these gears are separated and not put back in the original definite relation to each other, the head is said to be out of time. This means that the stop arm would not be in place at the proper moment to throw the dog out of engagement and a second revolution of the discharge arm immediately follows the first. The timing principle holds true in all makes of heads and is obtained in a way more or less common in all types, though the mechanism will vary to some degree in its shape and position. If the discharge arms revolve continually the head may be out of time or the stop arm face may be so badly worn that it allows the dog to slip by when the two come together. If the machine is out of time, i. e., if the stop arm is not in place to throw the dog out in the proper time, time the head by properly meshing the beveled gears between the packer shaft and the binder head counter shaft which runs up to drive the tier shaft. If the striking faces between the dog and the stop arm are so worn that they slip by one another, file the faces to their original form. If this allows too much play or looseness in the dog (which can be tested by taking hold of the discharge arms to determine whether they are tight or loose) a new dog or perhaps a new stop arm must be purchased. Some machines permit lengthening of the stop arm. Look for such adjustment and use same to hold the dog back tighter.

Casting Very Small Bundles. There are two causes for this trouble. The dog may not be thrown out at the proper time, and the remedy for such a condition has been just stated above. Small bundles often appear in badly tangled grain when the case bundle is not cleaned from the machine and its weight trips the head again immediately and a small bundle is cast which seems to be really a part of the first. Manipulate the machine to make a clean bundle, loosen the grain cheeks, adjust the trip spring to tie a looser bundle and adjust the compressor arm to tie a smaller bundle.

Discharge Arms Not Set Tight, or Dog Drive Strikes Dog. Usually these two conditions accompany one another and are due to extreme wear in gears and dog, or tier shaft lock may have become loosened. The tier shaft lock is usually a little dog working behind the tier shaft cam wheel at the end of the tier shaft. It holds the discharge arms in place when they are at rest. Examine your binder head for this mechanism and if it can be adjusted usually the trouble can be remedied by such adjustment. If the cam track in tier shaft cam wheel acts as the lock, new parts may have to be added to relieve badly worn conditions, but this will not necessarily remedy the striking between dog and driver. If head is very badly worn and all gearing has considerable play, the dog may be advanced one cog which will bring the head into better time. Great care must be used in doing this, however, for it often happens that a head so treated will work perfectly when operated by hand, but when driven by the packer shaft under actual conditions the tier shaft is not compelled to complete its revolution and this is not "driven home" and locked. This will then result in the discharge arms dropping down and in greater interference between dog and driver. It is sometimes found necessary to replace badly worn gears, in order to entirely eliminate this trouble.

Knotter Head Troubles

All binders are very similar. They combine the same principles, and although the detail of the mechanism may differ somewhat, still for every vital part on one make of machine there can be found on each other machine a part similar in function, very similar in shape, and often very similar in position. This is particularly true in the knotter head or that portion of the binder head which ties the knot. In discussing these troubles then, let us bear in mind that every make of binder has in some form each part shown in the second illustration, and that the functions of these parts are the same though the position and shape may vary slightly.

The disc is that part which holds the end of the twine while the bundle is being formed. The bills, also shown in the illustration, are those parts which tie the knot. It is the function of the needle to bring up the needle end of the band, place it over the bills and into the disc where the disc catches it and securely holds both ends. The bills then revolve, forming a loop about themselves, and after revolving part way they open, seize both ends of the band, as shown in the illustration, and hold the ends of the band while the stripper arm pulls the loop off the bills—hence the ends of the band are pulled through the loop and the knot is tied. If these operations are kept clearly in mind the operator will find his tying troubles greatly simplified.

Each operator should be able to tell just where his trouble lies by examining the failing band and noting where it is found.

In the third illustration, Figure 1 found clinging to the bills with the simple knot tied around the bills and the loose end cut square and smooth, indicates that the disc spring is too loose and the twine tension is too tight.

The same band found cast with the bundle instead of clinging to the bills would indicate that the disc is but slightly loose, yet too loose. The band indicating such trouble is shown in Fig 2.

Fig. 3 found clinging to the bills but with the free end crushed and ragged indicates that the disc is too tight and that the twine tension is also too tight.

Fig. 4 found cast with the bundle instead of on the bills indicates that the twine tension is perfect but that the disc is slightly too tight.

Fig. 5 found with the cast bundle and with both ends crushed and ragged indicates that the disc is very tight.

Notice the bent crinkled ends in Fig. 6 and that the band is formed with the bundle. The ends have been in the knot but have pulled out. The bills may be too loose or the "hump" on the underside of the upper bill may be worn away sufficiently so that the bills cannot hold the ends of the band securely enough when the loop is pulled off. This probably has caused a loose knot which pulled out when the bundle spread. If the bills are too loose tighten the bills spring. If the little "hump" is worn away file away a little of the stock behind the hump, using a rat-tail file.

Fig. 8 is the familiar band which seems to be tied perfectly when the bundle is first cast, but when the shocker grasps the bundle the band gives way and appears as shown. If the disc is at the proper tension, then the trouble is probably that the bills do not open wide enough to grasp both ends of the twine in the disc. If the bills cam roller on the back of the upper bill is worn one-sided, supply new parts. If the whole bills shaft has dropped down due to wear below the bills, pinion gear, place a very thin washer under pinion to bring the bills up against the knoter head frame where they belong. It sometimes happens that a very loose twine tension allows sufficient slack in the twine to arch slightly over the bills instead of being pulled down tightly over them. The upper bill will then nose in between the bands' ends instead of grasping both of them and a simple slip knot is tied instead of a hard knot.

Fig. 9 indicates a needle trouble. For some reason the needle has not placed the twine in the disc. Most likely the needle has carried up some green stuff of some kind which momentarily clogs the disc. If this band occurs frequently, however, then probably the eye of the needle has become so badly worn back, due to too tight a tension, that the needle can not advance far enough to place the twine in the disc. The needle should advance until it just barely touches the stripper or breast plate. If it does not advance that far it is probably slow and the needle pitman should be shortened slightly.

Make all binder head and knoter head adjustments gradually. A quarter of a turn of the studs on the disc and knoter bills springs is ample to remedy most troubles in those parts.

the 1930's. It was a time of great change in the way people dressed. The Great Depression had hit hard, and many families were struggling to make ends meet. Women's fashion reflected this, with simpler, more practical designs becoming more popular. The 1930's saw the rise of the "new look," characterized by a fitted waist and a flared skirt. This style was often paired with a belt or a sash. The 1930's also saw the introduction of the "hobble skirt," which was very tight at the waist and flared out at the bottom, creating a "hobble" effect. # Agricultural Industry of St. Clair County

By B. W. Tillman 1454488

THE basic industry of St. Clair county is agriculture. Upon its development along rational scientific lines depends the ultimate moral and educational advancement of the people.

Farming in the early settlement days in St. Clair county was crude and wasteful, little attention being given to proper seed-bred preparation, seed selection, crop rotation, and fertilization, with the result that yields on many farms steadily decreased. As the cause of the lowering yields became apparent, more attention was given to remedial measures, and at present there is a general tendency among the farmers to improve the crops by careful seed selection and treating for diseases and insects, and to increase the productivity of the soil by crop rotation, manuring, liming, use of phosphatic fertilizers and the growing of legumes such as clover, cow-peas, soy beans, alfalfa and sweet clover. In order to facilitate this soil- and-crop-improvement work there was organized in 1918 the St. Clair County Farm Bureau. This bureau has been operating since June 1.

Value of Agricultural Products.

At the present, grain growing is the leading type of agriculture in the county, with livestock farming, including the raising of beef cattle, hogs and dairying, as an important adjunct. The principal crops are wheat, corn, oats, potatoes, clover, timothy and alfalfa. The value of all cereals produced in 1909 was $4,761,122. Wheat was grown on 114,907 acres with a total yield of 2,021,081 bushels or 17 bushels an acre, according to the census of 1909. Corn was grown on 63,093 acres, yielding 34 bushels an acre or a total of 2,205-178 bushels. Irish potatoes were grown on 7,079 acres, yielding 820,743 bushels.

The total value of livestock is reported as $1,010,937. Hog raising constitutes an important branch of the livestock industry. Nearly every farmer fattens from 20 to 50 hogs a year. Hog raising has been disastrously affected at times by the prevalence of hog cholera. Much attention is now being given to hog-cholera vaccination work and there is an awakening to the value of sanitary measures in combating this disease. The principal hog breeds are the Duroc-Jersey, Poland China and Berkshire.

There are only a few flocks of sheep in the county, and sheep raising does not receive the attention it deserves. The industry offers splendid commercial possibilities. The census reports only 1,026 sheep and goats in the county.

Poultry is kept on all farms and constitutes an important source of income. There is an unexcelled local demand for poultry products and increased attention is being given to improvement of the stock. Some excellent flocks of Barred Rocks, Leghorns, and Rhode Island Reds are found in the county.

Nature of the Soils.

The soils of St. Clair county may be divided on the basis of physiography into two groups, upland and first bottom. The upland soils are loessal and glacial in origin.

The loessal material covers the western part of the upland extending from the vicinity of Millstadt, southeast beyond Freeburg, and thence north along Silver creek into Madison county in the vicinity of Lebanon. This soil is a porous, friable, brown-silt loam grading gradually into a light brown silty-clay loam.

The glacial material in St. Clair county gives rise to two classes of soil, one a light gray silt over tight clay and the other a brown silt loam. The gray silt loam lies in the southern part of the county. The subsoil is very impervious and drainage conditions are apt to be imperfect. The brown silt loam lies in the northeastern part of the county. It includes small areas of black silt loam. It is somewhat higher in agricultural value than the gray silt loam.

The first-bottom soil material comes from two main sources. That along the smaller streams, including the Kaskaskia river, is derived from local upland material. That in the flood plain of the Mississippi river has been formed from heterogeneous deposits brought down by that stream, including material derived not only from the local uplands but also from other soil provinces. The bottoms comprise some of the richest soils of the county and are well adapted to a wide range of crops and moisture condition.

Present Tendencies in Agriculture Development.

With the formation of the St. Clair County Farm Bureau there has come a great stimulus to the work in soil, crop, and livestock improvement. While it is too early to state with any definiteness the things that have been accomplished, the bureau has conducted an active campaign looking towards increasing the use of ground limestone and phosphatic fertilizers for soil building. At least 350 car-loads of ground limestone are being used in the county this year. Numerous tests show that large areas of soil in the county need as much as, three tons of ground limestone to correct the acidity. The greatest acidity is found in the gray silt loam in the southern part of the county. There are few soil areas in the county which would not be greatly benefited by applications of ground limestone. The importance of liming is clearly shown by the fact that clover is beginning to fail very seriously on many farms. One case is on record where a man has failed to get a stand of clover on a certain piece of land for the last 10 years but a small strip of this soil was limed a year ago and the stand of clover is perfect on this strip, whereas the unlimed land again has a complete clover failure. This is but one of hundreds of instances of this kind in the county.

Liming for clover is of the greatest importance because clover bears a closer relation to the problem of permanent soil enrichment in St. Clair county than any other one crop. By growing a good crop of clover once in three or four years, the farmer becomes independent of the fertilizer industry for his supply of nitrogen, which at present prices is costing 40 cents a pound. If he feeds the crop to his animals and conserves the manure he maintains his soil in the most economical manner. A ton of clover returned to the soil supplies about 40 pounds of nitrogen to the soil in the most readily obtainable form for plants. On the other hand, the nitrogen added to the soil in an acre application of 150 pounds of an ordinary 2-10-2 fertilizer amounts to only three pounds per acre, and a 75-bushel corn crop will remove in the grain alone 75 pounds of nitrogen. There is, therefore, no surer way to soil depletion and ultimate bankruptcy than to neglect the supplying of nitrogen through clover or other legumes.

Aside from the immediate effects on the fertility of the soil, rotating with clover enables one to control corn-root rot or the so-called fusarium disease which is becoming more and more serious in all parts of this state. Recent studies have shown that the yields of corn are lowered by as much as 20 per cent by the ravages of this fungus disease.

Coupled with the use of lime should come an increased use of phosphatic fertilizer. Extensive studies by the University of Illinois have shown that phosphorus is the limiting element of plant food in St. Clair county soils as well as in most soils of the state. The use of a phosphatic fertilizer is therefore a fundamentally necessary and scientifically correct method of building up the fertility of our soils.

Livestock in St. Clair County.

In connection with the livestock improvement work in the county, stress should first of all be placed upon the introduction of better-bred sires. This improvement can probably be best affected with dairy cattle through the organization of bull clubs in different parts of the county. Such work is being contemplated by the farm bureau and should bring about a very decided improvement in the quality of our dairy cows. Better sires are also needed to head the herds of swine as well as the poultry flocks. With poultry, for example, research has established the fact that high-laying hens do not directly transmit their high egg-laying ability to their female offspring. They do transmit it to the male offspring so that if we wish to make any progress in breeding for higher egg production we cannot give too much attention to the quality of the male bird. It is to the solution of this problem of animal breeding that the farm bureau is directing its attention. Already a large number of farm flocks have been carefully culled with the view of getting rid of the non-laying or unprofitable hens. This work has been highly successful to date, the results having shown that just as many eggs are being produced in many flocks after 50 per cent or more of the hens had been discarded as unprofitable winter layers. Along with this systematic selection, such points as proper feeding and housing are emphasized.

In order to bring about a more systematic sale of pure bred livestock it is the purpose to organize, in the near future, the St. Clair County Purebred Livestock Association. This will enable the livestock breeders to organize into committees such as the Duroc-Jersey Association, enabling them to co-operate in the development of their particular breeds. A decided advantage from such organizations comes through concerted advertising and in the holding of annual sales.

In the way of crop improvement, increasing attention is being given towards the introduction of proper varieties of wheat and corn and the improvement of the seed by selection. Recent trials have shown the very great profits resulting from the formaldehyde treatment of wheat and oats for smut. This work is being rapidly pushed until it promises to stamp out this disease of the cereals.

Good Prospect for Fruit Growing.

The loess soil of St. Clair County comprises the best fruit land in the state of Illinois. This soil covers practically one-third of the total area of the county. Already a few highly successful commercial orchards are found on this soil and hundreds of small family orchards are in existence. However, it is no longer possible to grow fruit of high flavor and quality without resorting to spraying for the control of insects and diseases. The very great success attending such work on the commercial orchards in the county, and the ideal adaptability of our loess soil for fruit growing, warrant such an extension of the industry as to make it one of the most profitable phases of farming in the county.

In general, St. Clair county offers a very wide field for agricultural production, including unequalled opportunities for livestock husbandry and horticulture. The county is already one of the leading wheat-producing centers of the state and in the production of Irish potatoes it holds a prominent rank. There is an attractive field therefore for settlers who are interested in a highly specialized agriculture. Aside from its great commercial possibilities the price of farm land has not as yet risen to the staggering heights of lands in other parts of the state and in north Missouri and Iowa, so that from an investment standpoint the county offers exceptional opportunities. The St. Clair County Federal Farm Loan Association is in operation and guarantees the farmer money at a low rate of interest and upon the most favorable terms.

SOUND BUSINESS JUDGMENT ESSENTIAL TO SUCCESSFUL FEEDING

Low cost of production would seem the one thing necessary in order to meet market changes and to make a profit. But there's another important element that must be regarded—SPEED. It is rapidity in fattening that must go hand in hand with low cost, that profit may always be certain.

Make your profit sure by feeding Alfocorn Feeds. Alfocorn Kattle Fatner and Alfocorn Hog Lasses are made of strictly pure fat-forming concentrates, directly convertible into live weight.

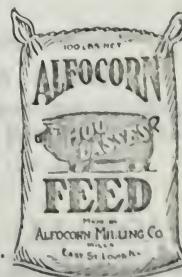

Alfocorn Feeds are cheaper than corn, digestible to the last scrap and give the speed necessary to making low cost production profitable.

and the author's own research work with his students and colleagues (1970). It is a valuable book.

In addition to a general introduction, the book is divided into three main parts: "Basic concepts," "Principles of therapy," and "Treatment." Each part is subdivided into several chapters.

"Basic concepts" deals with the principles of pharmacokinetics, pharmacodynamics, and pharmacogenetics. It includes discussions of absorption, distribution, metabolism, and excretion, as well as pharmacokinetic models and pharmacogenetics.

"Principles of therapy" covers the principles of pharmacotherapy, including the selection of drugs, drug interactions, and therapeutic drug monitoring. It also discusses the principles of pharmacogenomics and pharmacogenetics.

"Treatment" deals with the treatment of specific diseases, such as hypertension, diabetes, and heart disease.

The book is well written and clearly organized, making it an excellent resource for medical students and practicing physicians.

Conclusion: This book provides a comprehensive overview of pharmacokinetics, pharmacodynamics, and pharmacogenetics. It is an excellent resource for medical students and practicing physicians.

Author: Dr. John Smith is a professor of pharmacology at the University of California, San Francisco. He has published numerous articles in the field of pharmacokinetics, pharmacodynamics, and pharmacogenetics.

more standardised, and although greater educational achievement seems to be associated with higher social class, there is no clear evidence of a causal relationship between education and social class.

The second section of the report concerned itself with the nature of the educational system in the state. It was found that the educational system was well developed, with a large number of schools and teachers, and that the quality of teaching was generally good. However, there were some areas where the quality of teaching was less than satisfactory, particularly in rural areas. The report also noted that there was a significant difference in the quality of teaching between urban and rural areas.

Concerning the role of the educational system in the state, it was found that it had a positive influence on the development of the state, particularly in terms of providing opportunities for education and training.

and personal, not just medical, needs of patients and families. This may mean a change in the way we practice medicine. We must learn to live with uncertainty and accept the fact that we cannot always predict what will happen. We must also learn to work together with our patients and their families to find the best possible care. This requires a shift in our thinking and a willingness to embrace uncertainty. It also requires a commitment to providing compassionate care that respects the individual needs and values of each patient.

Finally, we must be willing to let go of some of the traditional ways of thinking about medicine. We must be open to new ideas and approaches. We must be willing to embrace uncertainty and accept the fact that we cannot always predict what will happen. We must also learn to work together with our patients and their families to find the best possible care. This requires a shift in our thinking and a willingness to embrace uncertainty. It also requires a commitment to providing compassionate care that respects the individual needs and values of each patient.

countries, such as India, Persia, and China, were the most important influences on Japanese culture. In the 19th century, Japan's isolationist policy was broken by the arrival of American naval ships under Commodore Perry. This led to the opening of Japan to foreign trade and the beginning of a period of rapid industrialization and modernization. The Meiji government, which came to power in 1868, implemented a series of reforms to transform Japan into a modern nation. These included the abolition of the samurai class, the introduction of Western-style education, and the promotion of a national language, Japanese. The Meiji period also saw the rise of a new form of Japanese literature, known as 'Meiji literature', which reflected the changing social and political landscape of Japan.

During the early 20th century, Japanese literature continued to develop, with the emergence of modernist writers such as Natsume Soseki and Ryūnosuke Akutagawa. The Showa period (1926-1989) saw the rise of a new generation of writers, including Kenzaburō Ōe and Haruki Murakami. The latter is perhaps the most famous Japanese writer of the late 20th century, with his novels such as 'Norwegian Wood' and 'Kafka on the Shore' having sold millions of copies worldwide. In the post-war period, Japanese literature has continued to flourish, with many contemporary writers such as Ayako Yamada and Yūji Ono receiving international recognition. The Japanese literary tradition is thus a rich and diverse one, reflecting the complex history and culture of Japan.

Japanese society today continues to be shaped by its rich literary tradition. The country's unique blend of ancient customs and modern technology has created a unique cultural landscape. The Japanese have a deep appreciation for literature, and it is not uncommon to see people reading books in public places. The country's literary tradition is also reflected in its architecture, art, and music. 2. This result could be explained by the fact that the amount of carotene in the diet was not sufficient to meet the requirements of the animal. It is known that the amount of carotene required by the animal varies with the amount of fat consumed (10).

In the first group of animals fed 10% fat diet, the amount of carotene was 100 mg. per kg. diet. This amount of carotene was found to be insufficient to meet the requirements of the animal. The amount of carotene required by the animal to meet its requirements is 100 mg. per kg. diet (10).

Result indicates that 100 mg. per kg. diet of carotene is sufficient to meet the requirements of the animal. The amount of carotene required by the animal to meet its requirements is 100 mg. per kg. diet (10).

It is evident from the results obtained that the amount of carotene required by the animal to meet its requirements is 100 mg. per kg. diet.

It is evident from the results obtained that the amount of carotene required by the animal to meet its requirements is 100 mg. per kg. diet.

However, it is not clear whether the amount of carotene required by the animal to meet its requirements is 100 mg. per kg. diet.

to which such acts had resulted and, secondly, why the author and his audience were "not" guilty of such acts.

The first question of who should answer the charge of the "guilt" of the author and his audience is easily answered by the author's declaration of himself as being guilty. He does not, however, furnish any specific proof of his guilt, nor does he offer any evidence to support his claim.

What remains is to show
why the author and his audience should be considered guilty of the acts of the author.

First, the author admits that he is guilty of the acts of the author and of the author's
audience.

Then, again, he admits that the author and his audience are not guilty of the acts of the author.

Finally, he admits that the author and
his audience are
not guilty of the
acts of the author
and of the author's
audience.

Thus, we have the following statement:
The author and his
audience are not
guilty of the acts of
the author and of the author's audience.

Now, if we consider the first statement, we find that it is true.
The author and his
audience are not
guilty of the acts of
the author and of the
author's audience.

But, if we consider
the second statement,
we find that it is false.
The author and his audience are guilty
of the acts of the author and of the author's audience.

Therefore, the two statements are contradictory, and therefore, the author
and his audience
are guilty of the
acts of the author
and of the author's
audience.

But, if we consider
the third statement,
we find that it is true.
The author and his
audience are not
guilty of the acts of
the author and of the author's audience.

Therefore, the two
statements are contradictory, and
therefore, the author
and his audience
are guilty of the
acts of the author
and of the author's
audience.

But, if we consider
the fourth statement,
we find that it is true.
The author and his
audience are not
guilty of the acts of
the author and of the author's audience.

Therefore, the two
statements are contradictory, and
therefore, the author
and his audience
are guilty of the
acts of the author
and of the author's
audience.

But, if we consider
the fifth statement,
we find that it is true.
The author and his
audience are not
guilty of the acts of
the author and of the author's audience.

Therefore, the two
statements are contradictory, and
therefore, the author
and his audience
are guilty of the
acts of the author
and of the author's
audience.

But, if we consider
the sixth statement,
we find that it is true.
The author and his
audience are not
guilty of the acts of
the author and of the author's audience.

Therefore, the two
statements are contradictory, and
therefore, the author
and his audience
are guilty of the
acts of the author
and of the author's
audience.

Thus, we have the
following statement:
The author and his
audience are not
guilty of the acts of
the author and of the
author's audience.

of human health, which may be caused directly from the use of organic fertilizers.

Secondly, it is known that although relatively few people work with or live near to the organic fertilizer plants there are still many people who have been exposed to organic fertilizers either through their occupation, their education, their voluntary work or through their leisure time activities.

Thirdly, it appears that the general "soil and plant" disease may not be a "soil and plant" disease but rather a "soil and plant" disease.

Fourthly, it is known that organic fertilizers, although they may not contain all the nutrients required by plants, do contain some which are essential for plant growth.

Fifthly, it is known that organic fertilizers are not only good for plants but also for animals and humans.

region. A typical Aboriginal person and their family live outside of urban centres in just over one-third of the provinces.

Overall, however, the typical Aboriginal person lives in a rural or semi-rural area, with only about one-quarter living in urban centres.

Aboriginal people are more likely than other Canadians to live in rural areas, and less likely to live in urban areas.

Aboriginal people are also less likely than other Canadians to live in large urban centres, such as Vancouver, Toronto, and Montreal.

Aboriginal people are more likely than other Canadians to live in smaller urban centres, such as Kelowna, Victoria, and Fredericton.

Overall, Aboriginal people tend to live in smaller towns and rural areas, while other Canadians tend to live in larger urban centres.

which all parts, presumably, of the brain had at least one neuron with a single soma and two neurites, which were both long and narrow.

Finally, we found approximately seven neurons of considerably larger size, which appeared to consist of two or three soma and three or four neurites.

With these results, we can estimate the number of neurons in the brain of Leucaspis to be approximately 1000.

Thus, our first estimate of the total number of neurons in the brain of Leucaspis was approximately 1000.

Secondly, we can estimate the number of neurons in the brain of Leucaspis by counting the number of somata in the brain of Leucaspis.

Thirdly, we can estimate the number of neurons in the brain of Leucaspis by counting the number of somata in the brain of Leucaspis.

Fourthly, we can estimate the number of neurons in the brain of Leucaspis by counting the number of somata in the brain of Leucaspis.

Finally, we can estimate the number of neurons in the brain of Leucaspis by counting the number of somata in the brain of Leucaspis.

Thus, our second estimate of the total number of neurons in the brain of Leucaspis was approximately 1000.

Thus, our third estimate of the total number of neurons in the brain of Leucaspis was approximately 1000.

Thus, our fourth estimate of the total number of neurons in the brain of Leucaspis was approximately 1000.

Thus, our fifth estimate of the total number of neurons in the brain of Leucaspis was approximately 1000.

Thus, our sixth estimate of the total number of neurons in the brain of Leucaspis was approximately 1000.

Thus, our seventh estimate of the total number of neurons in the brain of Leucaspis was approximately 1000.

Thus, our eighth estimate of the total number of neurons in the brain of Leucaspis was approximately 1000.

Thus, our ninth estimate of the total number of neurons in the brain of Leucaspis was approximately 1000.

Thus, our tenth estimate of the total number of neurons in the brain of Leucaspis was approximately 1000.

Thus, our eleventh estimate of the total number of neurons in the brain of Leucaspis was approximately 1000.

Thus, our twelfth estimate of the total number of neurons in the brain of Leucaspis was approximately 1000.

Thus, our thirteenth estimate of the total number of neurons in the brain of Leucaspis was approximately 1000.

Thus, our fourteenth estimate of the total number of neurons in the brain of Leucaspis was approximately 1000.

Thus, our fifteenth estimate of the total number of neurons in the brain of Leucaspis was approximately 1000.

Thus, our sixteenth estimate of the total number of neurons in the brain of Leucaspis was approximately 1000.

to provide military service against enemies of the state, and of actual military service.

⑤ Army posts, as well, became the chief source of wealth and the basis of social rank in a society which was gradually becoming more commercial.

⑥ Social rights of nobles, however, with their political and military functions, were gradually being taken away during the 3rd century.

⑦ Imperial soldiers became almost entirely the personal servants of the emperor and were no longer allowed to marry.

⑧ Nobles, however, could always purchase all personal servants for their own use, so that they could still have slaves.

⑨ By the time of Constantine the army had become so large that it was necessary to keep it supplied with food.

⑩ This was done by means of a system of roads and canals which were built by the slaves of the nobles.

⑪ Roads were built from the mountains to

Ground Limestone in Relation to Soil Fertility

The increasing need of St. Clair County soils for lime is the natural result of the long continued cultivation, growth and removal of crops without liming and the leaching out of lime. Aside from these processes, some of the soils such as the gray silt loam on tight clay, on account of their origin and process of formation have probably always been strikingly deficient in lime although this fact was not generally realized previous to investigations by the Soil Department of the Illinois College of Agriculture.

A low lime content of the soil is accompanied by a condition or reaction called "soil acidity". This condition is exceedingly injurious to the leguminous crops such as the clovers and alfalfa. These crops absolutely fail if the soil is very acid, and this condition must be remedied by liming. Clover bears a closer relation to the problem of permanent soil enrichment in St. Clair County than any other one crop. By growing a good crop of clover once in three years the farmer becomes independent of the fertilizer industry for his supply of nitrogen, which at present prices is costing 40¢ a pound. The problem of liming for clover, therefore, for the correction of soil acidity is a fundamental step for profitable crop production.

EFFECT OF LIME

Lime may affect the fertility of soil in several ways all of which are inter-related. Thus lime may (1) improve the physical condition of the soil providing large quantities are used; (2) stimulate the development of beneficial soil organisms; (3) aid in making plant food in the soil available to the plant; (4) correct the acidity of the soil thus improving the growth of most all crops.

The most commonly used test to determine when a soil needs lime is the litmus paper test. With good paper in careful hands the test is reliable. Blue litmus paper will turn a pink color when in contact with a moist sour soil for from five to ten minutes...The litmus paper test has been the first step in reclaiming many an old sour field.

AMOUNT OF LIMESTONE TO USE

The amount of lime needed depends entirely on the degree of soil acidity. No certain amount of lime can be prescribed without this information. The thing to do, therefore, is to have the soil tested for its lime need and apply the limestone accordingly. A simple chemical test known as the Truog test has come into use recently to determine the lime requirements of a soil. In general, it may be said that from 2 to 3 tons of limestone once in six or seven years is a reasonable rate.

FORMS OF LIME

Ground limestone is preferred to burnt lime or air slacked lime because it gives greater sweetening power per dollar invested than the other forms of lime. It is also believed that burnt lime may over-stimulate the decomposition of organic matter in the soil. Ground limestone does not have this stimulating action and it may be safely applied in large quantities at any time without danger of injurious effects. It should be understood, however, that where burnt lime is used, it is not the burnt lime which is at fault. The blame for the injury should be placed squarely on the failure to have an adequate supply of humus in the soil. The fact cannot be too often repeated that those practices which deplete the humus of the soil also deplete the lime content.

In determining the relative cost of the different forms of lime, it is important to remember that 1100 pounds of burnt lime or 1500 pounds of hydrated lime equal 2000 pounds of finely ground limestone where all are derived from a high-grade stone.

DEGREE OF FINENESS

Experiments which have been made in comparing limestone pulverized to different degrees of fineness show that it is the fine dust which gives the immediate results in sweetening the soil. The coarser material gradually disintegrates, keeping the soil sweet a longer period of time than where all dust is used. There is a limit of course to the coarseness. It is not advisable to use anything coarser than a 4 mesh including the dust. All things considered, the best stone to use is one ground fine enough to pass thru an 8 mesh sieve; that is, a sieve with holes approximately one-eighth of an inch across or about like those of a fly screen. Such material will carry a large percentage of fine dust which will have an immediate effect in correcting the acidity.

WHERE SHOULD LIME BE APPLIED?

In general, any convenient time is a good time to apply limestone. However, the application is best made after plowing and the material should be thoroughly disked or harrowed in. Probably the best time to apply is before wheat in the fall so as to allow sufficient time for the proper reaction in the soil before sowing clover. The roads are also good at that time and there is usually more leisure of men and teams. It may be spread on fall plowed land in late fall or winter, or on the corn ground in spring. One year is inadequate to determine the real value of liming because the greatest benefits are not apparent until the second or third year. The

(CONT'D) THE STABILITY OF INDUSTRIAL BANKS

In this section we look at some of the factors which may be important in determining the stability of industrial banks. We focus on the banking system in India, since the Indian experience is instructive in this regard. In addition, the Indian experience is instructive in that it shows how industrial banks can be successful without being part of a large banking group.

There are two main reasons why industrial banks in India have been successful. First, they have been able to maintain a high level of autonomy from the central bank. This has allowed them to develop their own unique business models and to focus on specific sectors of the economy. Second, they have been able to attract a large number of deposits from the public, which has provided them with the necessary capital to support their lending activities. This has allowed them to maintain a high level of liquidity and to manage their risk exposure effectively.

Industrial banks have played an important role in the development of the Indian economy, particularly in rural areas. They have provided credit to small farmers and entrepreneurs, which has helped to reduce poverty and improve living standards. They have also provided credit to small businesses, which has helped to create jobs and stimulate economic growth.

However, there are also some challenges facing industrial banks in India. One challenge is the increasing competition from other banking institutions, such as commercial banks and microfinance institutions. Another challenge is the regulatory environment, which can be difficult to navigate and can limit the ability of industrial banks to operate effectively. Finally, there is the issue of sustainability, as industrial banks must ensure that they are able to meet the needs of their customers while also maintaining a strong financial position.

THE STABILITY OF INDUSTRIAL BANKS

IN THIS SECTION, WE EXAMINE THE STABILITY OF INDUSTRIAL BANKS IN INDIA. WE FOCUS ON THE BANKING SYSTEM IN INDIA, SINCE THE INDIAN EXPERIENCE IS INSTRUCTIVE IN THIS REGARD. IN ADDITION, THE INDIAN EXPERIENCE IS INSTRUCTIVE IN THAT IT SHOWS HOW INDUSTRIAL BANKS CAN BE SUCCESSFUL WITHOUT BEING PART OF A LARGE BANKING GROUP.

INDUSTRIAL BANKS HAVE BEEN SUCCESSFUL IN INDIA FOR A NUMBER OF REASONS. FIRST, THEY HAVE BEEN ABLE TO MAINTAIN A HIGH LEVEL OF AUTONOMY FROM THE CENTRAL BANK. THIS HAS ALLOWED THEM TO DEVELOP THEIR OWN UNIQUE BUSINESS MODELS AND TO FOCUS ON SPECIFIC SECTORS OF THE ECONOMY. SECOND, THEY HAVE BEEN ABLE TO ATTRACT A LARGE NUMBER OF DEPOSITS FROM THE PUBLIC, WHICH HAS PROVIDED THEM WITH THE NECESSARY CAPITAL TO SUPPORT THEIR LENDING ACTIVITIES. THIS HAS ALLOWED THEM TO MAINTAIN A HIGH LEVEL OF LIQUIDITY AND TO MANAGE THEIR RISK EXPOSURE EFFECTIVELY.

INDUSTRIAL BANKS HAVE PLAYED AN IMPORTANT ROLE IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE INDIAN ECONOMY, PARTICULARLY IN RURAL AREAS. THEY HAVE PROVIDED CREDIT TO SMALL FARMERS AND ENTREPRENEURS, WHICH HAS HELPED TO REDUCE POVERTY AND IMPROVE LIVING STANDARDS. THEY HAVE ALSO PROVIDED CREDIT TO SMALL BUSINESSES, WHICH HAS HELPED TO CREATE JOBS AND STIMULATE ECONOMIC GROWTH.

main benefits result from the increased growth of the legumes, without which it is impossible to maintain an adequate supply of nitrogen and humus in the soil. It is therefore not lime alone but lime and humus that sour soils need.

WHAT DETERMINES THE VALUE OF A STONE?

The value of a limestone for agricultural purposes is determined by its calcium carbonate content. Only a relatively pure limestone should be used. In general more than ten per cent of impurity is objectionable, except in special cases. The greater the proportion of impurity the greater the amount of stone required to produce a given amount of carbonate. High grade stone contains 95 per cent or more of calcium carbonate or its equivalent; medium grade contains 85 to 95 per cent; low grade 75 to 85 per cent; and inferior grade below 75 per cent. It is apparent that the same sweetening power may be obtained from a low grade stone as with a high grade stone provided larger amounts of the low grade material be used. It is seldom, however, that a low grade stone can be bought at a low enough figure to warrant its use.

Monroe County Farm Bureau

(By Alfred Tate)

THE Monroe County Farm Bureau was organized in December, 1917, but a county advisor was not secured until April 1, 1918.

The first work which the county advisor did after coming into the county was to visit every rural school of the county and demonstrate the testing of seed corn. William Heyl, county superintendent of schools, co-operated in the work and accompanied the advisor, helping him locate the schools. A definite schedule was made out before starting, and each teacher of the county was notified of the date of the meeting, and requested to urge the farmer's in the district to be present at the meeting. The advisor felt that the demonstrations would be a good way to get acquainted with the farmers and at the same time give them a much needed service. On the whole, the demonstrations were well attended, and much interest was shown. It was discovered at these meetings that very few farmers of the county had ever tested seed corn and that none had done it in such a way so as to secure a definite record of each ear planted. As a result of these meetings much seed corn was tested by the individual ear method during the spring of 1918. Figures have been given by different farmers showing that the results which grew out of this work saved the county enough to pay the farm advisor's salary several times.

All upland soil in the county which has not had an application of limestone is very strongly acid, and most of the bottom land is fast becoming acid. Monroe county has probably more accessible limestone than any other county of the state. Most of this stone is of a high testing quality.

ALFRED TATE

Comparatively little limestone had been used before the organization of the Farm Bureau. The farm advisor began immediately to urge the use of ground limestone and as a result of this agitation over 100 carloads of limestone were applied during 1918. All who applied limestone had wonderful results with clover the following summer. The use of limestone spread like wild-fire. There was one small crusher operating when the Farm Bureau was organized. Now there are 12, and several more will be put into operation soon. The problem now is not to get farmers to use limestone, but to get the limestone for them to use.

Several carloads of raw rock phosphate have been used by Farm Bureau members the past year and we expect some good results next year. The farm advisor claims that all of the poor land of the county, much of which was practically abandoned, can be brought up to a high state of fertility by the use of limestone and the growing of sweet clover, which should be plowed under green with an application of raw rock phosphate. The county is fortunate in having a young Farm Bureau member by the name of Oscar Brenser who is a firm believer in sweet clover. Seven years ago he moved on to an abandoned farm which was considered to be so poor that it would not pay to crop it. This farm is now one of the most productive farms in the county.

When the Farm Bureau was organized the county was in great need of better livestock, there being only a very few registered sires of any kind. Much has been done to encourage the getting of better livestock, and as a result five registered boars, two registered sows and several registered heifers and bulls were purchased by Farm Bureau members.

The Condensary located at Waterloo provides a good market for whole milk, and interest in dairying is developing rapidly. The county advisor has been trying to organize cow testing associations, and while none have been organized up to this time, we are sure of having one ready to start operations soon.

The advisor has been advocating "bull associations" ever since coming to the county and, with the help of some live dairymen in the neighborhood of Hecker and the University of Illinois, a Holstein Bull Association was organized this past summer. This association intends to buy a $1,000 bull. We believe that much improvement in our dairy cattle will grow out of this start.

The Farm Bureau has done much in the way of getting its members to do better feeding. They have been taught the value of a balanced ration; they have been encouraged to grow as much of their feed on their own farms as possible; the use of patent stock foods has been discouraged; the building of more silos has been recommended; tankage, cottonseed meal, linseed meal and barley are bought co-operatively through the Farm Bureau by the carload at a considerable reduction in price; and practically every Farm Bureau member is now growing alfalfa. Many of the members have built self-feeders for their hogs.

The Farm Bureau has done much to teach farmers the value of good seed of all kinds. Farmers have been taught to select their seed corn from the field, dry it thoroughly and keep it where it will not freeze. Practically no Farm Bureau member would think of planting seed corn now which has not been tested. Seventy bushels of pedigreed seed corn were purchased for members last spring and a lot of guaranteed Kansas-grown alfalfa seed was bought this fall. The county advisor has given many demonstrations on treating seed oats for smut and seed wheat for smut and scab.

The Farm Bureau has been active in combating insect enemies. The farm advisor co-operated with state officials in a campaign against chin-chugs last winter and last spring. Burning demonstrations were held, and the growing of cowpeas or soybeans with corn was recommended. It was noticeable this fall that Farm Bureau members observed the fly-free date for sowing wheat much more closely than non-members. The county owes much to Mr. Emil Stumpf for the good work he has done in connection with Hessian fly. He has made a thorough study of the fly on his own farm, and claims that his knowledge of the Hessian fly saved him fully $2,000 in the year of 1915.

The Executive Committee decided soon after the organization of the Farm Bureau that one of the most important things for the county was better roads and a good roads committee was appointed to co-operate with state and county officials to secure better roads. It is the belief of the Executive Committee that it would be the cheapest and best for all concerned if every county road were made into a satisfactory hard road as soon as possible.

The need of teaching agriculture in the schools of the county was brought to the attention of the Executive Committee by the county advisor and it was decided that the best means of filling this need would be the establishing of several community high schools in the county. Mr. H. G. Schmidt, Supt. of the Township High School of Belleville, Illinois, was secured to explain the community high school proposition at the first annual farmers' picnic this summer. Prof. H. A. Hollister was obtained to present the matter at the Farmers' Institute a few days ago, and it looks now as though at least three such community high schools would soon be established.

The membership in the Monroe County Farm Bureau numbered 220 when the advisor began work on April 1, 1918. The membership has been steadily increasing ever since and we now have 337 members. Every member but one had paid his membership fee by the end of the first year and this one has now paid for both the first and second year. It was reported from the State Leader's office last spring that we had the best financial standing of any farm bureau in the state.

The Monroe County Farm Bureau was one of the first farm bureaus of the state to join the Illinois Agricultural Association. John C. Gummertsheimer and John Andres were sent from this county as delegates to the annual meeting of the Illinois Agricultural Association which was held at Peoria last January. John C. Gunmersheimer who is also president of our Farm Bureau, was chosen to represent the southern part of the state as a member of the Executive Committee of the Illinois Agricultural Association.

The work accomplished by the Monroe County Farm Bureau during the short time which it has been operating is due to a large extent to the hearty co-operation of the members of the Executive Committee. They are a live bunch of progressive farmers who have always been willing and ready to co-operate with the advisor in anything which is for the good of farmers of the county. We have never failed to have a quorum at an Executive Committee meeting, and at most meetings all are present.

Monte Carlo Techniques, Discrepancy

Approximation prior to the iteration

The general idea is to generate a large number of random samples from the joint distribution of the variables. We can then calculate the mean value of the function of interest. The more samples we have, the more accurate our estimate will be. This is a simple way to approximate the expected value of a function.

Monte Carlo

Monte Carlo method is a process of generating random numbers to simulate the behavior of a system. It is often used to estimate the probability of an event occurring.

and the way it is written, can be approached from the perspective of the reader's own interests and needs. In this sense, reading is a process of interpretation, where the reader actively constructs meaning from the text. This approach emphasizes the reader's role as an active participant in the reading process, rather than a passive consumer of information. It also highlights the importance of the reader's own experiences and knowledge in shaping their interpretation of the text.

However, this approach also has its limitations. It may lead to a lack of critical engagement with the text, as the reader focuses more on personal interpretation than on analyzing the broader context or purpose of the text.

Another approach to reading is the critical reading approach. This approach emphasizes the reader's role as a critical thinker who analyzes the text from multiple perspectives. It encourages the reader to question the assumptions and values presented in the text, and to consider the broader social and historical context in which the text was produced. This approach also emphasizes the importance of the reader's own critical judgment, rather than simply accepting the text's message at face value.

Overall, the critical reading approach is a more comprehensive and analytical approach to reading, which encourages the reader to engage with the text on a deeper level and to consider its broader implications. It also emphasizes the reader's role as an active participant in the reading process, rather than a passive consumer of information.

Finally, there is the social reading approach, which emphasizes the reader's role as a member of a community or group. This approach encourages the reader to engage with the text in a social context, such as through discussion groups or online forums. It also emphasizes the importance of the reader's own social experiences and knowledge in shaping their interpretation of the text. This approach highlights the ways in which reading is a social practice, where readers are not only individual consumers of information, but also active participants in a larger social discourse.

Overall, these three approaches to reading—interpretive, critical, and social—each offer a different perspective on the reading process, highlighting different aspects of the reader's role and the broader context in which reading occurs.

In conclusion, reading is a complex and multifaceted practice that involves many different factors, including the reader's own interests and needs, the text itself, and the broader social context. By understanding these factors and the different approaches to reading, we can gain a more comprehensive and nuanced understanding of the reading process and its significance in our lives.

number of printed books
decreased.

Under George I, however, the printing trade was restored again, and the number of printed books

which will increase with growth, such that growth is limited by nutrient availability. This is true for all species, and it is also true for Artemia.

It is likely that growth is limited by the amount of available food, which may be limited by the amount of available water.

Thus, although growth is limited by available food, growth is limited by available water.

Does water limit growth? This is not clear, because there is no evidence that growth is limited by water.

Thus, growth is limited by available food, but growth is not limited by available water.

and more a native language. In the higher social classes, however, there was a greater awareness of the importance of English.

In 1972, 1973, and 1974, the author conducted a series of interviews with 100 students at the University of Lagos, Nigeria, to determine their attitudes towards English and its influence on their native language. The results of these interviews will be presented below.

X

THE STUDENTS' ATTITUDES TOWARD ENGLISH AS A FOREIGN LANGUAGE

When asked what they thought about English as a foreign language, most of the students responded that it was useful and necessary for them to learn it. They also said that it was important for them to learn English because it was the language of education and government.

When asked if they thought English was a good language to learn, most of the students responded that it was. They also said that they enjoyed learning English and that it was a useful language for them to know.

lantis, and I finally arrived at my old school in the middle of last winter just about the middle of December.

It suddenly struck me that I had not seen any of the old friends since the university got around there last year.

I began searching around the dormitory and found all sorts of people here and there, but most of them had already left.

I decided to make one last visit with which I had not done and so went up towards the dormitory.

There was still a few people left, but it was a very quiet place and it was difficult to find anyone.

Finally I found a few old students who were still staying. A girl named Jane, another who was graduating soon, and a few other people.

They all seemed to be very quiet and the atmosphere was very somber.

I started walking around and the first person I saw was a man who looked kind of like an old professor.

I asked him if he was from the university and he said yes, he was from the university.

I asked him if he had seen any of his old friends and he said no.

protein synthesis in isolated cytosolic and nuclear fractions. These data indicate that nucleolar proteins are not present in the cytosolic fraction, and that proteins found in the nuclear fraction are not present in the cytosolic fraction.

It has been reported previously that the nuclear proteins of S. faecalis contain a large number of proteins with molecular weights between 100,000 and 150,000 daltons (15). In addition, the nucleolar fraction of S. faecalis contains a number of proteins with molecular weights between 100,000 and 150,000 daltons (16).

Thus, it appears that the nucleolar fraction of S. faecalis contains a number of proteins with molecular weights between 100,000 and 150,000 daltons. These proteins may be nuclear proteins, or they may be nucleolar proteins.

Serve and Deserve Success

To strive for and gain success is every man's right, but to serve and deserve success is not only every man's duty—it is the good man's ambition.

To manage a serviceable, a successful store—a store entitled to the confidence and patronage of the public—means' that a manager must have the thought of serve and deserve well ingrained.

For forty long years we have striven to serve you faithfully and honestly.

That we have partly succeeded in this ambition of ours is evidenced by the large number of satisfied customers, and the steady growth of our business.

From a small 25x60 room, our business has grown to the biggest Clothing, Hat and Furnishing Goods House in Southern Illinois.

But we are not satisfied to let it go at that, it shall be our aim and purpose to serve you still better, in fact to give you the best possible service a store can give you—fair treatment and honest merchandise.

May we hope to serve you?

SELECTED AND DESIGNED WINES

For more than half a century we have been engaged in the business of wine and spirit distribution, and in this time we have learned much about the art of wine making and the science of wine preservation. We have also learned that the best wines are those which are carefully selected and expertly blended. This is why we offer you our "SELECTED AND DESIGNED WINES", which are specially chosen from the finest vineyards in the world, and are then carefully blended to create a unique flavor and character. Our wines are not just for drinking, but for savoring, and we believe that they will bring you joy and pleasure. So why not try one of our wines today? You won't be disappointed.

Quality Vs. Price

THE MOST IMPORTANT QUESTION BEFORE EVERY MANUFACTURER TODAY

The cost of everything has gone sky high. The manufacturers have one of two courses to choose—raise the price or lower the quality. It is impossible to hold up quality and keep down prices. Our policy is and has always been to keep up the quality. Experience has shown that quality goods are cheapest in the end.

We believe in making every Perfect Range or Stove an example of our motto PERFECT IN EVERY WAY.

The public would not permit us to lower the quality of our Perfect line.

You may be a Perfect owner.
Why did you buy a Perfect?
Because it was low priced?
No! Because you were impressed with Perfect quality.

PERFECT IN EVERY WAY.

You May Be Losing Money Without Knowing It

Indigestion is egested by chemistry and bacteria. If the digestive system is not acting properly, much feed passes through the animal without fulfilling a useful purpose.

You cannot tell that your cattle are not utilizing all their feed until they stop making gains. Prevention is the remedy. Use CLARINA CATTLE TONIC AND WORM EXPELLER permits the stomach and the intestines to complete their work of turning feed into flesh, fat and good weight. You will save feed, your cattle will fatten quickly and you will make more money, as well as prevent worms, fevers, colds, rheumatism, and disorders of the kidneys.

Put your cattle on a sure money-making basis.

Orders for Clarina Cattle Tonic and Worm Expeller promptly filled.

What Will Be Your Next Purchase?

It is a well-known fact that the best way to keep your home clean and comfortable is to have a good vacuum cleaner. And the best way to keep your clothes clean and comfortable is to have a good clothes dryer.

But what if you don't have a clothes dryer? What if you don't have a vacuum cleaner? What if you don't have a clothes washer?

Well, there's still hope. You can buy a clothes washer and a clothes dryer from a local appliance store. They'll be able to help you find the right model for your needs. And they'll be able to help you get the best price possible.

So, if you're looking for a clothes washer or a clothes dryer, make sure you do your research. Look around for reviews and compare prices. And don't forget to ask for recommendations from friends and family members.

THE NORWALK VAULT

THE ONLY THING lacking in the modern funeral heretofore, has been some absolute guarantee of permanence—permanence not only of months but of centuries. This permanence is at last secured in the Norwalk Vault. Literally it "Lasts Through the Ages." Moulded out of carefully prepared cement, seasoned and coated without and within, it will protect the most delicate casket from stain or blemish. Top and bottom are sealed together in plain sight, and the vault becomes instantly one solid piece of protecting masonry that grows stronger with the passing years. Reinforced with expanded steel, the Norwalk Vault will stand any weight or any handling. Forever bright and dry, it is a comfortable assurance against the wet, unsanitary old-fashioned grave.

To Farmers:

Farmers need a good market for whatever they produce. A Condensary is recognized as the very best market for milk. We aid farmers in obtaining cows, heifers and especially Holstein Bulls at cost. The Holstein Breed is recommended by us for both your and our best results.

To make farms support more dairy cattle, farmers should erect silos of ample capacity, grow alfalfa, and establish permanent pasture.

Dairying is not the woman's work only, but because it is one of the most profitable ways of farming, men must study and develop the profits.

The most fertile and highest priced farm lands are those where dairying has been practiced for years. You have a wonderful opportunity here. Call on us. Let us give you more information. We want to spread out; let us develop together.

Yours respectfully,

WATERLOO CONDENSED MILK CO.

VIABILITY OF GARDEN SEEDS

In his book, Productive Vegetable Growing, Prof. John W. Lloyd, of the University of Illinois horticulture department gives the following as the length of time seeds may be expected to retain their vitality:

	Years		Years
Asparagus	5	Mustard	4
Bean	3	Okra	5
Beet	6	Onion	2
Cabbage	5	Parsley	3
Carrot	4	Parsnip	2
Cauliflower	5	Pea	3
Celery	8	Pepper	4
Corn, Sweet	2	Pumpkin	5
Cress	5	Radish	5
Cucumber	10	Rhubarb	3
Eggplant	6	Salsify	2
Endive	10	Spinach	5
Kale	5	Squash	5
Kohlrabi	5	Tomato	4
Leek	5	Turnip	5
Lettuce	5	Watermelon	5
Muskmelon	5

It is always safest to test seeds that have been kept more than a year before planting, because they are not always kept under the best conditions and if not will deteriorate faster than is indicated in the foregoing table.

Our Grocery Department is unequalled in all St. Clair County. The feature of our Grocery Department being in the fact, that we operate our own produce and commission house, which enables us to pay the highest market price on all country produce at all times.

Many times you have read an advertisement in Prairie Farmer of something you would like to buy, but you did not know where to find the store that sold it. You decided to look for this article when you were next in town and you tried several stores without finding it. Then you gave up in disgust. A two-cent stamp or a postcard addressed to the manufacturer saying "Please advise me who handles your goods in my town. If you have no dealer in my town, give me the name and address of your nearest dealer", would get you accurate information by return mail. Try it. It works and saves time.

We have a fully equipped Repair Shop to take care of all kinds of repairing, large jobs and small jobs, STEAM ENGINES REPAIRED. The size don't bother us. If too big to bring in, we can come out and bring our tools. Our work is done on short notice, and guaranteed. We repair AUTOMOBILES, TRACTORS and TRUCKS. Don't dispose of your old machinery—bring it to our shop, and take it back as good as new. Welding done while you wait.

We also handle the WESTERN ELECTRIC LIGHTING PLANT, which is backed by a fifty million dollar concern. You will make no mistake in installing a WESTERN PLANT. We consider it the best Plant on the market. Come in and let us demonstrate its superior advantages.

We also install IDEAL BOILERS and AMERICAN STEAM AND HOT-WATER HEATING SYSTEMS.

We also handle the well-known EMPIRE PIPELESS HEATER, which can be installed in any ten-room house in less than a day.

Call on us when in need of our services, and let us convince you of fair treatment and a square deal.

CLETRAC

(TANK TYPE TRACTOR)

Why are so many farmers buying the Tractors with treads instead of wheels?

Because they see the advantage of having a tractor that is on top of the ground all the time and isn't wasting power by pushing the dirt ahead of the wheels. Also they know that the soil can't be packed with only  $5\frac{1}{2}$  pounds pressure per square inch which is all that the CLETRAC has.

We are selling the CLETRACS in good numbers now, but we want to see more of them out. Ask the man who owns one and satisfy yourself that he has a real machine.

Write or call us for a demonstration, or a catalogue at once.

We carry a complete line of accessories.

NEW FEATURES OF THE DRILL

FONT RAIL is fastened to the hounds at intermediate points—nothing else necessary to support it.

HOES SHIPPED with lever in double or in single rows.

SEED HOPPER fastened direct to axle and held firmly by two iron braces, doing away with heavy square frames.

IMPROVED SECTIONAL WHEELS, with brace spokes and long bearing on thimble skein. This wheel can be easily tightened, whenever loose, and any part replaced, making it therefore everlasting and far superior to the iron wheel.

KILLING RATS

Saturate cloths large enough to fill the entrances of the holes with carbon-disulphide, perhaps a large teaspoonful to each cloth. Poke the cloth down as far as possible, then fill in with dirt. This gas is very heavy and when it evaporates it settles into the bottoms of the holes, killing old and young. This gas is also very satisfactory in killing gophers and woodchucks.

Monte Carlo with Gaussian Integrators

Monte Carlo methods have been used to calculate the properties of many systems. In this paper we propose a new type of Monte Carlo method, called Gaussian integrator Monte Carlo, which is based on the idea of using Gaussian integrators to sample the phase space of the system.

Gaussian Integrator Monte Carlo

In this section we will introduce the Gaussian integrator Monte Carlo method. We will start by defining the Gaussian integrator and then we will show how it can be used to sample the phase space of a system.

The Gaussian integrator is a numerical method for solving differential equations.

It is based on the idea of using Gaussian functions to approximate the solution of the differential equation.

Johnson's Reinventing Money

Johnson's Reinventing Money is a book by John C. Johnson that discusses the history of money and its evolution over time.

The book is divided into three main parts: the first part discusses the history of money, the second part discusses the evolution of money, and the third part discusses the future of money.

Every road has two ends—at one end the farm, at the other the country town. Each depends on the other, and both prosper together. When broad-minded merchants and the progressive farmers work together for the good of the community, then you have a community worth living in.
